

8th International Facility & Strata Management Conference 2022

Marina Bay Sands Expo & Convention Centre
Halls B & C

16 November 2022,
Wednesday

9:00 AM - 5:30 PM

In real estate terminology, property management is primarily related to the ownership of the property whereas facilities management is about how the services are delivered within that property. In this context, strata management is a specialist area involving the day-to-day operation and maintenance of the property.

On the other hand, facilities management is really focused on people and services whereas property and strata management are focused on the buildings and the actual ownership and management of the property and its assets.

With the launch of the Industry Transformation Maps (ITMs) by the government in 2016, the property and facilities management sectors have come under sharp focus, to digitalise their operations in order to sustain efficiency and productivity.

As Singapore enters the post-Covid-19 world, the Property and Facility Management ITM will be refreshed along with the other 22 sectors, as part of a new plan over the next five years. Dubbed ITM 2025, the transformation will be strengthened by three new thrusts: incorporating the recommendations of the Emerging Stronger Taskforce, closer integration with research and innovation, and greater focus on jobs and skills.

In light of the above compelling development, the Association of Strata Managers (ASM), the Singapore Institute of Building Limited (SIBL) and the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) have decided to co-organise the 8th International Facility and Strata Management Conference (IFSMC) 2022 to evaluate and propose new strategies "Shaping the Future Digital Built Environment", the theme of the IFSMC 2022.

Amongst others, the 8th IFSMC 2022 would have three plenary sessions with prominent facilities and strata management experts focusing on "Towards Digitalisation of Strata Management", "Digitalisation and Sustainability in the Built Environment", and "Digitalising Facilities & Strata Management".
